Re: Bluechem Common Rail High Pressure Diesel System Cleaner & Protector.

---

In view of the low quality Diesel that is often filled into our customers XDi vehicles which is often contaminated with water and other foreign materials and after extensive testing of the below product, we have decided to authorize the use of the following product by our network:

Common Rail High Pressure Diesel System Cleaner & Protect (33098)

This high performance Cleaner when applied into the fuel system is able to:

- Dissolve gum and varnish.
- Remove completely even the smallest particles of contamination.
- Optimise compression.
- Eradicate water.
- Provide lubrication especially to the high pressure pump.

The customer benefits of this product are:

- Prolonged life span of the components in the fuel system, particularly the Injectors.
- Improve performance & fuel efficiency and reduce exhaust gas emissions.
- Lower long term maintenance costs.

We therefore suggest that you offer this Cleaner into the service & maintenance program for SsangYong XDi vehicles. The representatives of the below company will visit your centre to explain the benefits and application of this product. Kindly liaise directly with them with regards to supply and delivery.

Please note that this is only our recommendation and the use of this product is NOT compulsory, however if you are recommending a non authorised/tested product to your customers then you will be responsible for any sub sequential damage caused by the same.
